

SafeTool becomes Infobric

SafeTool quickly became the market leader in solutions that increase safety in the construction industry. The company's products create a better working environment and increase the safety, efficiency and traceability of people, tools and machines at construction sites.

As part of the company's development Safetool has changed name to Infobric. The name change marks the evolution of the company's products and services into a solid platform for real-time information on construction sites.